CHANGE MANAGEMENT SUPPORT

In combining psychological and HR strategies, CBE can help to support organisational change. Changes may include transitioning teams and the associated interpersonal dynamics, or new leadership.

STRATEGIC PLANNING

Using our clinical expertise, we can create strategic plans for your organisation based upon our assessment of the issues at hand. Issues may include stakeholder conflicts, interpersonal relationship issues, or any factors that are reducing productivity and engagement.

We felt it was important to support the mental health of our team and try and incorporate a better understanding of our clients. The information learnt, all team members were able to implement skills learnt immediately and not just in the work environment. We are thankful to have connected and this is something we would like to visit annually but also have our team know that there is support available should assistance be required.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

CBE offers industry-specific training and development for all levels of organisational personnel. Our professional development can be catered to suit your needs, whether that involves mental health, organisational trauma, or managing difficult relationships.

I wouldn't hesitate to recommend CBE to run sessions for your team. No doubt supported by the deep subject matter knowledge, engaging delivery and teaching approach, and the provision of workbooks and supportive materials. The session has helped me and my team of policy makers and service designers think more deeply about the nature of trauma and its impacts on organisations, services, communities, and individuals, and apply it to our work going ahead. An unexpected consequence is that it has helped me as a leader of people in the day-to-day management and support of my team.
